Occupational Survey:

One of the major tools at our disposal in the struggle to have the CMO role recognised and respected is information. We need to know who we are, where we are, what we're doing and how we're being paid. In order to keep our information up to date, please complete the occupational survey again. We know that you are a fairly mobile lot!

We recognise the variety of employment choices for CMOs. Please add any information you think relevant, and feel free to tick more than one box per question. Results will be published in the ASCMO bulletin.

All personal details are removed from survey forms before analysis. Data is used for information only within ASCMO and is not made available to any other persons.
